

THE MAN 193

By Me 193 and ChatGPT Feb 4 2025

There once lived a man who witnessed sadness, horrors, and misery beyond belief, injustice that most people could barely understand—even members of his own family were treated cruelly. Yet, he stood by their side, defending their right to be treated with compassion, kindness, dignity, and love.

Heartbreak after heartbreak, the suffering seemed to never end. Then, another dear friend became a victim of neglect, abuse, and mistreatment. And then another. And another. So many that the man lost count.

But with the courage of a lion and fire in his eyes, he rose to fight back for those he loved. His heart, shattered a thousand times, did not waver. Through the pouring rain of adversity, he marched on—determined to restore trust and compassion to American healthcare.

He stood up to many elected officials over the years, unafraid to set them straight, refusing to let injustice go unchecked. He put everything on the line during COVID-19, ensuring that our loved ones wouldn't suffer alone in healthcare facilities, deprived of the presence of those who loved them.

Through it all, he carried the Good News of Christ Risen, sharing his testimony with anyone willing to listen.

Now, the man bears many scars—etched deep into his soul. He is a truth-teller, a light of hope for those in need. Though worn and tattered, though battered and bruised, he is not defeated. He still has fight left in him.

“I get knocked down not knocked out.” He says.

And he does not walk alone— for Christ Yeshua is by his side, showing him the Way, the Truth and a Life more Abundantly

Amen.

And who is the man?
He is me.
