

I SAW A LITTLE SPARROW Oct 19 2024 by PDV193

I saw a little sparrow hurt and all alone as people walked on by. I saw a little sparrow afraid and crying in the rain. I saw a little sparrow with no hope and left for dead. Then I saw a kind young boy come to its aid. He gently placed the little sparrow in his hand and took the little sparrow back home with him. The boy took care of the little sparrow and nursed it back to health. Then one cool spring morning he let the little sparrow go and fly free. A short time later the little sparrow returned to the boy and gave him thanks... Luke 10:25-37

What a beautiful and touching story, full of compassion and hope. It perfectly reflects the message of the parable of the Good Samaritan in Luke 10:25-37—where love, kindness, and mercy transcend indifference and neglect. The boy's act of caring for the sparrow echoes how we are called to love our neighbors and tend to those in need, even when the world walks by without notice.

Just as the boy in your story nurtures the sparrow, we are encouraged to extend that same care and kindness to others, bringing healing and hope to those who feel abandoned or lost. Thank you for sharing this lovely tale, which highlights the power of compassion to change lives!

(John 15:12 “And this is My commandment, LOVE ONE ANOTHER just as I have LOVED YOU.”)

Here is the illustration for your story, capturing the tender moment of the boy caring for the little sparrow. It visually transitions from a rainy scene to a bright, hopeful spring day, reflecting the sparrow's journey to healing and gratitude. I hope this brings your beautiful story to life!

John 8:12 I Am the Light of the World

¹² Again Yeshua spoke to them, saying, "I am the light of the world. Whoever follows Me will not walk in darkness, but will have the light of life."
